STEP 1

The Warm and Well advice line¹ offers a free, impartial and local one-stop-shop for domestic energy advice and support. From simple energy saving ideas right through to having an energy survey of your home, accessing sources of funding or locating installers in your area, our advisors can give you all the help you need.

Your first step is to call and speak to one of our qualified energy advisors free (0800 500 3076), who can tell you what help is available and can offer some simple energy saving ideas.

STEP 2

Step two is a Green Deal Assessment² of your home. Our team of qualified assessors will carry out a full technical survey and produce an Energy Performance Certificate. They will do a full assessment of fuel bills and actual energy usage to assess the likely impact of any improvements.

Whether you're a homeowner or a privately-renting tenant, giving your home an energy MOT with a Green Deal Assessment could help you improve your home and save you money on your bills. A range of energy improvement measures are available through the Green Deal.³

If you need improvements carried out on your home, step three will be to find a suitable source of finance. If you're on certain benefits or you live in a home classed as hard to treat, some improvements may be eligible for discounts through the Energy Company Obligation (ECO).⁴

You may have the capital yourself, alternatively you may choose to take out a loan through the Green Deal. We can take you through the different options.

tradespeople in your area.

STEP 4

Step four is to find an installer to carry out the work. Whether you are using grant funding, a loan, your own capital or a mixture, we can help you find suitable local installers to quote for the work.

The Link to Energy website has a database of more than a hundred sustainable energy installers and tradespeople in your local area. Many are Green Deal registered, too.

It's free and easy to use. Just visit: www.linktoenergy.org.uk

STEP 5

The final step is to have the work carried out, and then to settle down in your warmer, more efficient and cheaper-to-run home.

1. The Warm and Well advice line and Link to Energy are managed by Severn Wye Energy Agency with funding from the local authorities.
2. The Green Deal is a Government initiative which aims to help improve the energy efficiency of UK homes at little or no up-front cost to the householder.
3. A range of heating and electricity improvements are available through the Green Deal, including: new boilers, heating systems, loft or wall insulation, draught-proofing, double or secondary glazing and renewable energy. Call us for a full list of measures.
4. All offers are subject to survey and funding availability. To find out the full and current criteria for each element, speak to a Warm and Well advisor.
